A&T... The Challenge of University Status

NORTH CAROLINA AGRICULTURAL AND TECHNICAL STATE UNIVERSITY
AT
GREENSBORO, NORTH CAROLINA

“To Reach the Ureachable Star”

FROM COLLEGE...

For the past seventy-five years, A. & T. as a college has survived the changing times, changing administrators, changing quality of students, but has held steadfastly to its philosophy of meeting the needs of a progressive society. Six administrators, John O. Crosby (1892-1896), Dr. James B. Dudley (1896-1925), Dr. Ferdinand D. Bluford (1925-1955), Dr. Warmoth T. Gibbs (1955-1960), Dr. Samuel D. Proctor (1960-1964), and Dr. Lewis C. Dowdy (1964-Present) have stood at the helm and steered the course of the good ship "Aggie" through treacherous waters. There was always the goal of higher attainment ahead, and each successive captain has pursued this goal tenaciously, improving curricula and facilities alike and upgrading the quality of its graduates, who have gone forth bearing the banner of A. & T. College into the labyrinth of society.

TO UNIVERSITY...

The school year of 1966-67 saw the end of a name but not the termination of a dream. On June 29, 1967, the Agricultural and Technical College, by act of the North Carolina Legislature, moved up the intellectual stream, having its name and status changed from college to university, to become the North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University of Greensboro. With this change of name and status came new and greater challenges, more spacious and better equipped buildings, an increased and more qualified faculty, better prepared students, and new visions for the future. As a university, we forge ahead to greater heights in academics, culture, patriotic endeavor, brotherhood, recreation, and, most of all, service to mankind. Our hands reach ever upward and outward, lifting and gathering the "lost" in the maze of this atomic age.

THE CHALLENGE

The challenges of our society have taken on many forms in accord with the complex era in which we now live. In a time so pregnant with change and social innovations, coupled with revolutions, one must be well equipped to adjust to the rapid rate of change and the ever-present challenge of acceptance or rejection. The degree of acceptance or the manner of rejection is based on one's ability to understand the problems that confront him.

Today, as in the past, we are challenged academically; but the challenge is much greater now than it has ever been. With tremendous emphasis being placed on one's formal training in determining the type of job that he is able to get, along with his position and starting salary, it becomes increasingly important that one take seriously all of his academic endeavors. The academic challenge goes even further. Educational opportunities are now open to all who will take advantage of them, causing the field of higher trained individuals to expand to its fullest. Truly, we have been cast into an age of competition. Only the fit—those who qualify to meet the challenge—shall survive! Academic conquests serve to prepare one to reason for himself, to be able to recognize an existing challenge, and to have access to an operational knowledge of the tools necessary to meet these challenges.

Moreover, in a time of such diverse activities, it is not enough for one to be qualified to meet only the academic challenge. Today's society presents other challenges that never cease to question one's ability to adjust to the times at hand and to meet the needs of an ever-changing society. We are challenged socially to meet the changes in social institutions that have existed unquestioned for centuries. These new mores that have grown out of these changing institutions have brought with them new and more complex problems to be answered by society. The problems of society attendant to these changes can only be solved by excellence of social standards upheld by its members. A. and T. State University is striving to instill in its students the superiority of values that will equip them, not only to adjust to the changes in society, but to help innovate various social changes that will benefit the whole of mankind, and to take the knowledge gained here and use it to solve the conflicts that swell like earthquakes to wreck our great society.

Still other challenges exist to test man's knowledge and skills. Politics and economics present constant challenges to us in choosing qualified representatives who also have progressive ideas, especially in matters of civil rights, taxation, and foreign policy. Political and economic institutions are very closely related, and each has an influential effect on the other. Therefore, it is necessary for man to have an appreciable knowledge of the concerns of both the political and economic system of the society in which he lives. One should plan through preparation to enter the realms of political life and become active rather than apathetic. For the fiber of the nation will be changed by those who are able to meet the challenge.

Man lives because he has something to cling to, something that interests him, or because he believes in a supreme being of power. As man's technological and scientific knowledge increases, his spiritual beliefs are challenged and questioned for validity. There is increasing doubt in one's mind as to the role of God in his life. Questions such as, "Is there or was there a God?" and "Is God dead?" constantly plague our society when man is only half educated. The University is fulfilling the need of training men to the extent that science and technology can be used to explain theology and to resolve many conflicts that have arisen between them in regards to the creation of the earth and man. Here at the University, we are engaged in a search for excellence and clarity that will enable us to accept the spiritual challenge with an open mind.

No challenge has man so perplexed as the moral challenge. All of the challenges aforementioned have a decided effect on man's inner-self. With the advent of social, political, and spiritual changes, one is constantly confronted with the need to revise his moral code. But, in which direction should this revision flow—upward or downward? If one denies the existence of God, then he naturally has no concept of right or wrong; and he may sometimes act and react accordingly. The effect of changes in social institutions often drives one to wonder why he should adhere to any rules of society if they, too, shall at one time be changed and regarded as having been incorrect. The moral challenge too can be met by the academic, social, and personal offerings of the university because it is geared to prepare a man to compete in a society of the highest technological skills so that he can stand erect, breathe, and swell with the confidence that he, the trained and educated man, is the supervisor of his soul and the director of his fate.

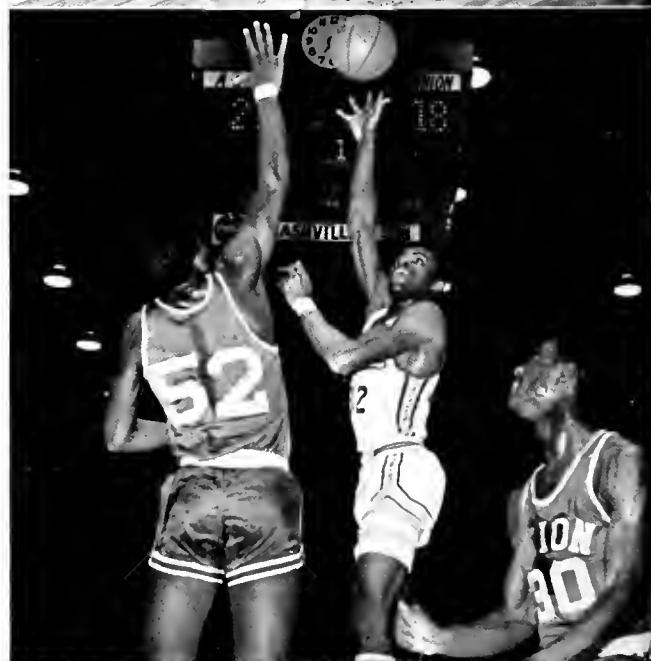

In addition to refining its students and making of them well-rounded individuals academically, socially, spiritually, and morally, the University concentrates its efforts in the building of strong bodies and patriotic minds and hearts in its male population. These men go forth into life prepared to uphold the ideals of their country and to protect it from those who would destroy its way of life. This is accomplished through the Air Force and Army Reserve Officer Training Corps programs.

Thus, the A. and T. State University prepares the whole man. Its five schools and two divisions are all engaged in the finest preparation in their respective fields. Training is offered to meet all of the needs of society with competence. No one man is equipped to do so; but by training many men in different fields, the University sends forth into society a heterogeneous aggregate with each member a specialist in one area but with the trained intellect to allow him to respect his fellowman for his skills and abilities.

A University through whose doors men enter just men but leave great men prepared to face the oncoming tide of life with intellectual fortitude and ready to infiltrate the ranks of society is the A. and T. State University.

The fruits of education are the music of life—let education be a challenge!

AYANTEE STAFF

If you were busy doing good,
And doing just the best you could,
You wouldn't have time to blame some man
Who's doing just the best he can.

—Author Unknown.

Each year the AYANTEE Staff has followed tradition in compiling materials for the annual. With a new working crew as well as a new advisor, multifarious ideas emerged; and at the point of a pen and the touch of the typewriter, these ideas have been depicted in the 1968 AYANTEE.

Numerous hours of chaotic toil have been devoted to the task of bringing to the A. and T. family a collection of the more memorable events of 1967-68. We realize that we are not able to please everyone with these presentations, but it is our desire to take care of the greater majority.

Dear A. and T., Dear A. and T.
A Monument indeed!
Around thy base with grateful hearts
Behold thy students kneel.
We bless the power that gave thee birth
To help us in our need.
We'll ever strive while here on earth
All loyalty to yield.

CHORUS

With joy, with joy, dear A. and T.
Thy students turn from thee,
To spread thy trophies year by year
From Dare to Cherokee.

- (II) Dear A. and T., Dear A. and T.
The signet thou shalt be,
Set by our own great Commonwealth,
Proud boaster of the free;
She'd have the record of her worth
On granite not inscribed,
Nay! Let the children of her birth
Proclaim it by their lives.
- (III) Dear A. and T., Dear A. and T.
Henceforth our aim shall be,
By precepts wise and deeds more sure
To bless the State through thee.

DEDICATION

The selection of Dr. Jesse Edward Marshall as the 1968 honoree by the Ayantee Staff is an expression of appreciation for his sincere and deep devotion as the "good dean." He has indeed been a dean who, in the words of George Eliot, "We must find our duties in what comes to us, not in what we imagine might have been," has performed his duties based upon his philosophy to direct or coordinate our program of student personnel services as a continuing exercise of identifying and remediating daily life problems of students with focus on:

1. Developing all aspects of human individuality
2. Recognizing individuals uniqueness of each student
3. Providing experiences which complement the classroom experiences and related activities
4. Utilizing methods of relationships which are both educative and directed toward character development, rather than authoritative

Born in Tuscaloosa, Alabama, Dr. Marshall has for years shown a continuing interest in education, in civic uplift, and in his country's welfare. Educationally, he has run the gamut of positions from science teacher to elementary school principal, to assistant high school principal, to Director of Freshman Studies Division, to Dean of Student Affairs. He is at present President of the North Carolina College Personnel Association, and holds membership in five other professional organizations. A scholar in his own right, he is a member of the Phi Delta Kappa Honor Society, having to his credit two major educational publications, "Problems of Adjustment of Freshmen Students" and "The Use of Test with the Academically Talented."

His civic affiliations include the YMCA and YWCA, the Boy Scouts, the Greensboro Control Center, the Greensboro Chamber of Commerce.

During World War II, Dr. Marshall served his country as an enlisted man and a Commissioned Officer, and he presently holds the rank of Lieutenant Colonel in the United States Army Reserve.

Dr. Marshall and his lovely wife, Mrs. Ruby C. Marshall, have two fine, talented children, Jessica Cordette and Miniford Clark.

Fraternally, he is a member of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity.

Dean Marshall joined the faculty of A. & T. State University in August, 1964, as Professor of Guidance and Dean of Students. Ever since, he has been actively engaged in helping the student develop himself to meet a world of great challenges and constant changes. Not always finding conditions ideal, he has held with J. Stuart Holden, "If we wait for ideally favorable weather for the sowing of the good seed—for the investment of our lives in the field of human need—we shall die waiting."

Thus, because of his untiring efforts in upholding the philosophy of the University by assisting students in the achievement of inner stability and personal integration through self-discovery and self-direction, the Ayantee Staff is pleased to dedicate its 1968 publication to Dr. Jesse E. Marshall, Dean of Student Affairs.

FOREWORD

In the past few years, our lives have been speeded up to such a pace that we are unable to take time for a lot of things. A hustle and a bustle to hurry up and live seems to be the trend. This new type of living is prevalent in all fields of work and play. We have reverted to the ancient idea of using symbols to represent the many activities expressed in daily living. As a result of this change, we use mottos, symbols, emblems, and trademarks to represent all aspects of religious, economic, political, and social endeavors. At every turn we are confronted with symbolism, be it a black and white handclasp or a picture of Uncle Sam in our daily newspaper.

In searching for a theme for our yearbook, we found useful this recent trend of symbolism in illustrating the many facets of life at A. and T. State University. In this copy of the Ayantee, we have endeavored to incorporate the many activities in symbolic representation. Without a doubt, the foremost symbol of the spirit of A. and T. State University is our changing status from a College to a University, which is here symbolized by an advancement in the height of the goals on which our sights are directed. We have chosen as our symbol a ladder leading toward "The Unreachable Star", ever mindful of Browning's admonition, "Ah, but a man's reach should exceed his grasp,— or what's a heaven for?"

PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT

It is my great pleasure to extend to you congratulations upon your graduation. You will now join the caravan of "Aggies" who spread their trophies not only from Dare to Cherokee, but from here to Tripoli.

While your challenges will be the greatest ever faced by any generation, your opportunity to change the character of our society and to contribute to the elevation of our civilization will be immeasurable. I predict that the history you write by your deeds, which will emanate from your deep commitment and high aspiration, will prove to be the most important ever written and witnessed by the races of men. I, therefore, admonish you to keep the fires of intellectual curiosity burning so that the chain which now locks from man the unexplored ideas may be melted to release a well-spring of new knowledge to give our civilization renewed thrust toward the realization of the "Great Society."

I know that you will carry with you the consuming "Aggie" spirit which has always given our graduates an incessant urge to seek continually the realization of a higher goal and to make a larger contribution to the realization of the "American Dream".

THE ADMINISTRATORS

Through the educational channels directed toward successful endeavor, the administrators guide the destinies of almost four thousand members of the Aggie family. They work constantly to up-grade the curriculum, improve the facilities, expand the devoted and efficient faculty, and challenge the potentialities of those who pass within the walls of this great institution. In times such as these in which we live, administrators such as these are needed: for into their hands are entrusted the lives of the future citizens of our great country.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The members of the Student Government devote a great deal of time to matters pertaining directly or indirectly to the students. The spokesman of the group, Marsh Campbell, is a senior elected by popular vote and assisted by two representatives from each of the four classes.

The group for this academic year worked diligently in finding ready solutions for the many student problems which have appeared before them.

Acting as the official student organization working in the common interest of the Student Body, the group strives to promote the general welfare and interests of the A. and T. family.

Among the worthwhile projects initiated by the Student Government for this academic year are the Resolution to the University Council and Faculty Senate urging the adoption of an elective ROTC Program to replace the present compulsory one and the passing of an Open Housing Bill at the State Student Legislature. Other proposals are for the formulation of a Student Judiciary and the adoption of another food system—preferably the ticket system.

We are indebted to these members for their earnest efforts to satisfy the entire student body. We congratulate them!

ACADEMIC DEANS

Under the competent leadership of our academic deans, the University advances the acquisition of knowledge and skill. Around this group of ablebodied men and women revolve an efficient faculty dedicated to the pursuit of pedagogy. The course which they have charted is fraught with difficulties in the accomplishment of their goal; but no matter how rugged the course may become, they never abandon ship. With determination such as theirs, we have moved from the status of a college to that of a university, with all of the challenges appertaining thereto.

SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE

Embracing the fundamental philosophy of the Land-Grant institution, the School of Agriculture accepts the University challenge and status. It administers a more than adequate program of instruction to meet the specific essentials of our rural-urban dichotomy.

The objectives of the School of Agriculture are twofold:

1. To extend the frontiers of knowledge and the professional competences of its faculty and the academic proficiency of its students through organized instruction and research, and
2. To share its resources with its clientele through organized short courses, conferences, and related activities designed to meet special needs.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION AND GENERAL STUDIES

The School of Education and General Studies in essence aims at a more educated society. The more educated a society becomes, the more the cultural integrity of that society needs to be preserved. Such preservation may best be attained, for example, by studying courses included in the several departments of the School—English, Music, Foreign Languages, Sociology and Anthropology, Health and Physical Education, Psychology and Guidance, Education, and, probably most important in today's politically-oriented society, History and Political Science. The progressive nature of the School of Education and General Studies is reflected in its newly instituted experimental program, the Curriculum Development Project.

CURRICULUM DEVELOPMENT PROJECT

Bold but sound innovations in the teaching of the basic subjects which college freshmen usually pursue in the General College Program constitute the course of study for the 13-College Curriculum Program. In this venture, 13 predominantly Negro colleges—most of which are located in the South—have entered into an experiment which intends to lend significant direction in the areas of English, Social Studies, Mathematics, and the Science Survey. The project represents the largest single grant which the United States Office of Education has ever made to a specific project, with supporting funds from the Office of Economic Opportunity, the Carnegie Foundation, and the National Science Foundation.

Dr. T. Mahaffey, Chairman
Division of Business and Economics

Dr. Juanita Tate, Chairman
Department of Economics

DIVISION OF BUSINESS AND ECONOMICS

Upon graduation from the division of Business and Economics, the student should have developed:

1. His potentialities for leadership, service, and ethical responsibility in business, government, and education,
2. An understanding and awareness of the social, economic, political, and human forces that underlie national and international problems,
3. The incentive to pursue research and make worthwhile contributions to his field of specialization,
4. The desire to project his thinking and shape his future to include continuous education,
5. Principles and concepts necessary in the solution of business and economic problems, and, most important,
6. Competence in the major field of specialization.

Once graduation requirements have been completed, the student is then entitled to the Bachelor of Science degree in the following areas: Business Education, Business Administration, Accounting, Economics, and Secretarial Administration.

At present, the construction of a modern mathematics building is nearing completion. The building is expected to be the new headquarters for the Business and Economics Division.

The four-year program of the School of Nursing not only encompasses campus work centered at Carver Hall, but also extends in practice to two area hospitals, L. Richardson and Moses H. Cone Memorial Hospitals. Although only fifteen years at A. and T., the School has developed markedly in its brief history. Understanding one's self and one's neighbor, the objective of the School of Nursing, results in a more mature interpretation of psychological and sociological problems that are continually present in societies. A more mature interpretation of society may result in a more mature society.

The Graduate School of the Agricultural and Technical State University offers a program of study leading to the Master of Science Degree.

The degree program includes Elementary Education, Secondary Education, Administration and Supervision, Guidance, and Chemistry as areas of concentration; for a Master of Science in Education, Art and Physical Education are the major areas of concentration.

Concurrent with the change from a college to a university, the Graduate School meets the challenge by establishing its first Graduate Student Club whose founder is Miss Lugenia Rochelle. The "Courier", a monthly newsletter, is also a product of the Graduate Student Club.

SENIOR CLASS

While this is truly an exciting time to be young and to look ahead to so many years of contact and enjoyment of the thrilling changes which are taking place in our political, social, and economical structure, we must never forget that these will be years which will demand more of the present generation. Both the challenges and the responsibilities are well worth our while.

Already the class of 1968 has known what it is to be sought by a world which is calling with keen anticipation to those who are well prepared and who have taken intelligent advantage of the opportunities of their college years.

The class can be commended for the good relationships and the high moral and cultural values which it has helped to impart to the tone of A. and T. State University. The members of the class are to be congratulated on their many contributions to the campus. They have let the A. and T. family know that they possess confidence that they will meet the challenges of life and will climb to goals of achievement in a manner which will make the University proud.

Joseph "Puff" Cotton

Senior

Portsmouth, Virginia

Died—December 8, 1967.

Let dissolution come when it will, it can do the Christian no harm, for it will be but a passage out of a prison into a palace; out of a sea of troubles into a haven of rest; out of a crowd of enemies, to an immumerable company of true, loving, and faithful friends; out of shame, reproach, and contempt, into exceeding great and eternal glory.

JUNIOR CLASS

The great foundations of the A. and T. State University will be left in the hands of the junior class, the future seniors of the next school year. They will be left with the responsibility to build on what has been strengthened by previous senior classes.

The Aggie family is as one great body; but without the nucleus of a strong leadership by the upcoming seniors, the body can weaken and fall. Therefore, it is the endeavor of the junior class to commit their minds, hearts, and souls to carry out the standards, achievements, and goals passed to them by the graduating class of 1968. As juniors, strive to do the best; for by doing so the results can be nothing but the best.

MEMORIAL

He Rested His Pen . . . .

Larry Wrenn

Sophomore

Greensboro, North Carolina

Died—March 8, 1968.

I weep for Adonais—he is dead!
O weep for Adonais! though our tears
Thaw not the frost which binds so dear a head!
Oh, weep for Adonais—he is dead!
Wake, melancholy Mother, wake and weep!
Yet wherefore? Quench within their burning bed
The fiery tears, and let thy loud heart keep
Like his, a mute and uncomplaining sleep!

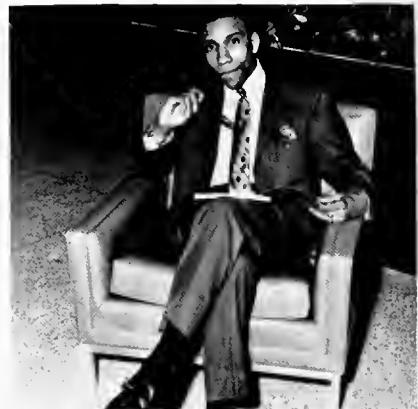

Peace, peace! he is not dead, he doth not sleep—
He has awakened from the dream of life—
He lives, he wakes—'tis Death is dead, not he;
Mourn not for Adonais—Thou young Dawn,
Turn all thy dew to splendor, for them thee
The spirit thou, lamented is not gone!

Excerpt from "Adonais" by Shelley

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Perhaps the most valuable result of all education is the ability to make yourself do the things you have to do when they ought to be done, whether you want to or not. However, early as man's training begins, it is probably the last lesson that he learns thoroughly.

Too often what we read and profess becomes a part of our libraries and our vocabularies, instead of becoming a part of our lives. Now that we are Sophomores, we have tried realistically to decide our course of action for the future. While we perhaps have not learned our lesson thoroughly, we have realized that the most important thing is not always knowing what should be done, but doing the necessary things when they ought to be done.

After our first frustrating days, we are still full of optimism and youthful idealism. In the course of our demolishing of traditional standards and ideas, we are only trying to bring about those things which are more compatible for the life we want to gain in society. We do not wish our careers to end abruptly because of our inabilitys to cope with the standards set by past generations. As Sopnomores, probably the three most important words to us are, "Do it now!"

FRESHMAN CLASS

Wide-eyed and inspired, but in a state of utter confusion and bewilderment, the freshmen arrived on the Campus in September, finding themselves standing in never-ending lines during their registration. After a hectic day of deciding at the last minute what to major in, the freshmen started getting themselves acquainted with the campus and meeting new friends. A few, the ones who had never been away from home before, practically gave up in tears with the comment, "What ever made me leave home?"

Adding to the frustrations of their newly acquired college lives, they awaited the arrival of the upperclassmen and the dread of their own first days in classes.

Relieved at finding their adjustment to college life a little easier than they had imagined, the freshmen found themselves getting involved in the many facets of college life. They joined clubs and settled down to studying. After going through the changes college life takes one through, they are now enjoying college life as they are accepted as a part of the Aggie family.

Gurney Cole Brown

Freshman

Rocky Mount, North Carolina

Birth—July 19, 1949.

Died—January 15, 1968.

A TRIBUTE TO GURNEY BROWN

There was a face so filled with cheer,
It was wonderful to have it around.
A warm, friendly face we held so dear
Was the face of Gurney Brown.

There was a figure we loved to see
Walking the campus ground.
A tall, stately young man was he,
The figure we called Gurney Brown.

There was a personality that couldn't be beat,
A rare thing to be found;
A personality so dear and sweet
Was the one of Gurney Brown.

Gurney, you taught us the happiness
That must come from deep inside;
You taught us the wonderful bliss
Of just being alive.

The heart and figure and personality, too,
The face we loved to see
Has now made us feel so blue
Because they ceased to be.

The faces that once had held a smile
Now are heavy with a frown;
The tears we shed will flow awhile
Because we all loved you, our precious Gurney Brown.

BAND

The "pride and joy" of Aggieland is its famed 130-piece marching band. The popular music, exciting marching steps, skillful formation—all thrilled thousands as the band made appearances at home and away. The band has risen to become one of the ranking college musical organizations today. Under the directorship of Mr. Walter F. Carlson and Mr. J. J. Williams, assistant, the band can and does perform with perfection, maneuvers from the formation of the traditional A and T to a satellite orbiting in space.

MAJORETTES

This is the corps of majorettes who led the A and T State University Marching Band when it took the field for football games. With new and varied routines for each game, they really gave the audience a show to be proud of, having had the opportunity to have seen them perform with much grace and skill.

FOOTBALL TEAM

Contrary to its expectations, the A. & T. State University Football Team suffered another dismal season.

Following its first disappointing defeat by Tennessee A. & I., the Aggies tied J. C. Smith, and ended its season record with four wins, four losses, and one tie.

As in the past, the Aggie team was full of enthusiasm and the usual Aggie spirit, determined to set a record-breaking season, but fate just wasn't on their side.

Always looking forward, the Aggie team envisions a more favorable season next year. With the skill and talent they possess, it just has to be a "winner"!

BASKETBALL

The N. C. A. and T. State University basketball squad exhibited tremendous practical ability on the court this year. Coach Irvin and other members of the staff steered the Aggies to a season of 17 victories and 6 inevitable losses.

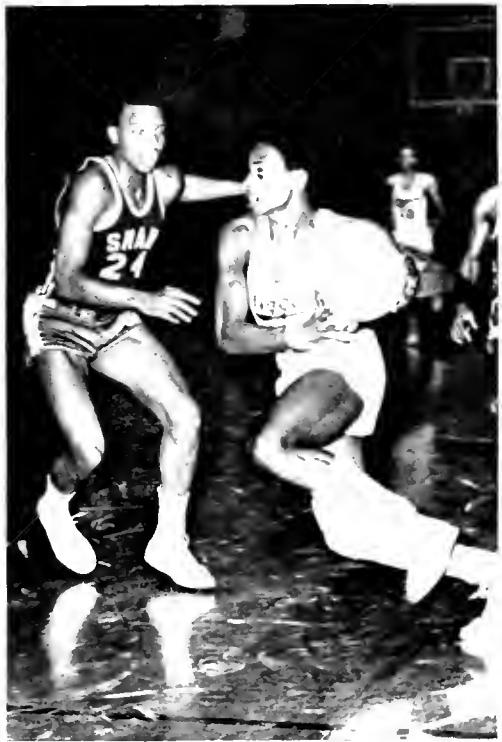

A feature attraction in Aggieland is the A. and T. State University's highly-rated basketball squad. Though not successful in defending its CIAA visitation conference title, the squad enjoyed a successful season.

Winning or losing, the hearty Aggies gave the spectators an evening of thrilling excitement as they maneuvered the ball from the center to the basket to score repeatedly.

BASEBALL TEAM

At the beginning of the 1967-68 season, the A. and T. State University Baseball Team was not up to its usual pace. There are high hopes, however, that this season will be better than the previous year's.

The captain for this season is Lloyd W. Lightfoot. Mr. Mel Groomes serves as the Coach for this year.

TRACK TEAM

At long last there appeared at the beginning of the 1968 track season a brand new enthusiasm for the sport. More aspirants reported for winter drills than ever before, and almost everything was looking up.

Coach Neely was working with a small, but talented squad, which could continue its winning ways. With the enthusiasm shown by the members, it is hopeful, and quite possible, that the track team will be as successful as it was last season.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

The interest in intramural sports has grown very high at A. and T. State University since it began a few years ago. Many organizations on the campus participate in the year-round intramural activities, and the exciting softball and football games have really become "tops." In the last several years the competition has been keener than would be expected for intramural participation. All the games are very well played and quite intense during the hard fought battles.

The primary function of intramural sports is to promote as broad and as competitive a recreational program as possible within the physical education set-up. A. and T. students participate in intramural sports on a voluntary basis and display their talents to the best of their ability.

Kenneth White, Director of Intramural Sports, awards trophy.

JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM

Junior Varsity Basketball Team

In the season of its initial participation in competitive sports, the junior varsity enjoyed repeated successes. The enthusiasm and talent exhibited by the team is indicative of successful varsity endeavor in the coming years.

Dr. William Bell, Director of Athletics

Dr. William Bell, Director of Athletics, possesses the "all-seeing" eye where the athletic program of A. & T. State University is concerned. Ever on the alert for students with athletic prowess, he entices these talented youths to join the aggregate of Aggie athletes who bring honor to the institution. During his years of service here, he has watched with pride the development of Aggies in varied sports as they completed their successful ventures here and went forth to join the ranks of the professionals.

TENNIS TEAM

The 1968 version of the Varsity Tennis Team got off to a roaring start by defeating UNC by a score of 7-1.

Last year the team finished fourth in the conference. All of last years players returned, and they are hoping and striving for a much better season this year as this issue of the AYAN-TEE goes to press. A larger squad, with improved coaching and facilities, has the campus buzzing about the glowing prospects which face the team and Head Coach Andrew Williams.

It appears that A. and T. will once again join the powers in the tennis world.

The Karate Team

THE KARATE CLUB

The origin of Karate dates back more than a thousand years. Karate was first introduced to the Japanese in 1922 by Funakoshi.

Karate was started at A. and T. State University in September, 1965. In the past two years, the club has become a member of the Official Organization of the United States Karate Association.

Today Karate is the ultimate exercise for health, sports, and self-defense.

Much credit is due to Edwin Simmons, Instructor, and Wilton Bennett and James McKoy, Assistant Instructors for helping to create the image of Karate at A. and T.

EDITOR'S EPILOGUE

Not all facts or events have been recorded since the beginning of time, but we of the yearbook staff have tried to leave nothing of importance in the happenings of "Aggieland" during the past year unrecorded. We have attempted to encompass as many facets of campus life as possible so that this may be an enjoyable yearbook for the entire Ayantee body and others.

The staff have attempted one of the greatest tasks in the history of the Ayantee yearbook, to embrace all areas of campus activity, including faculty, freshmen, and sophomores. We felt that the faculty plays an important role in student life—that of elevating the student body to a higher level of learning—We salute them! Furthermore, the freshmen and sophomores comprise the major portion of our student population; and some, through no fault of their own, may fail to reach junior and senior status.

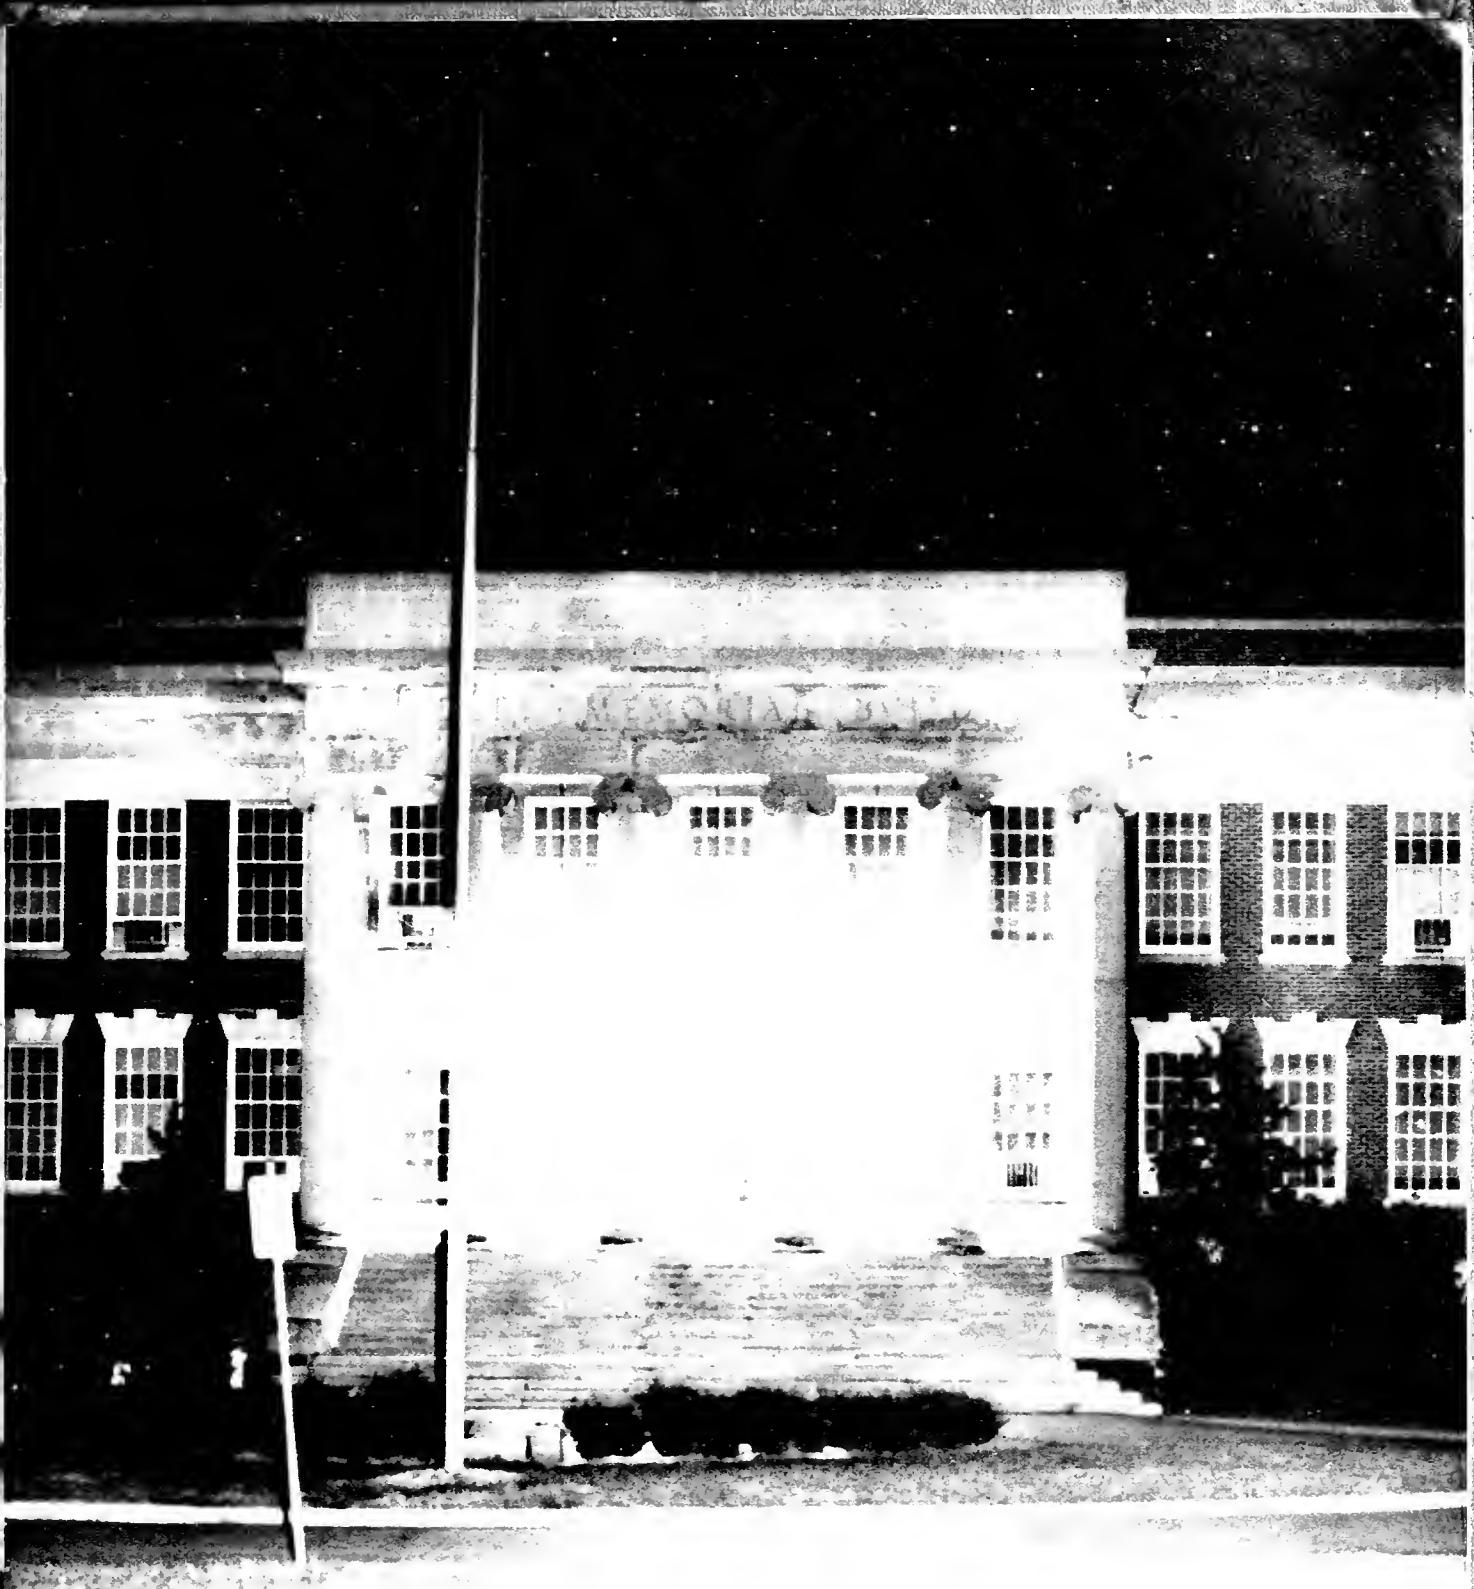

The publication of a yearbook requires the cooperation and hard work of all people concerned with or affected by its publication. Thus, we owe our gratitude to the A. and T. family at large for making the publication of this 1968 momento of the University activities possible.

As is true with any publication, there are those who deserve special recognition—Dr. Marshall, who gave us the liberty of pursuing many new ideas; Mrs. Copeland, our new advisor, whom the staff hold dear to our hearts; and Mr. Holmes, who contributed his artistic ability to our ideas and added suggestions for lay-out and art work.

Finally, the yearbook staff and editor sincerely hope that you will find the perusal of the pages of this annual pleasurable, both now and in future years, as administration, faculty, and students pursue new goals to which we are challenged by University Status, "To Reach The Unreachable Star".

JACK CANALES BLAKE, Editor

HONORED FOR SERVICE

Dean Samuel C. Smith

Donald A. Adams once observed that, "To give real service, you must add something which cannot be bought with money, and that is sincerity and integrity." Such was the addition of Dean Samuel Cooper Smith as he offered himself unstintingly in the service of A. & T. State University for more than a quarter of a century. Dean Smith joined the faculty in 1941 and became Dean of the School of Industries (formerly Technical Institute) in 1951. In this position, he was instrumental in the advancement of the School of Industries and the training of able young Americans who have taken their places in the onrush of a highly technical society.

Perhaps one of the outstanding reasons for his success at A. & T. was his versatility, for he was a person of many interests and endeavors—a churchman, a teacher, a supervisor, a civic leader, and a friend of colleagues and students alike. Indicative of his adaptability and skill is his participation in civic and educational affairs. He served as chairman of the initiating team for Project Uplift from 1963 to 1965; was appointed to the Major's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped in 1964; to the Governor's Advisory Committee on Manpower Development and Training Act in 1964; as Co-organizer of the American Youth Industrial Education Association in 1949, to mention only a few of his past activities.

Currently, he is a member of the Building Committee of the North Carolina Teachers Association, A. & T. University Alumni Association, American Vocational Association, National Industrial Arts Association, American Technical Association, American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers, Negro College Conference, and the Greensboro-Guilford County Inter-racial Commission and Citizens Association. As a member of the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, he received his 40-year plaque in 1965. In all of these endeavors, he has been inspired by his lovely wife Angeline.

To his work at A. & T. State University, Dean Smith brought the influence of his knowledge, skill, and wide association to bear, for which the Ayantee Staff and the entire A. & T. family and Alumni express profound gratitude.

'GONE FISHING'

Allison Gordon

Allison Gordon, who parlayed a $3.00 a month scholarship into a 38-year career as postman at A & T State University, has gone fishing.

Gordon's recent retirement robbed A & T of a devoted employee approaching a legend. Known and loved by thousands of students over the years, he lost no time in seeking out his rod and reel.

"Retirement is fine," chuckled Gordon in an interview at his home. "When my time came, I decided to go. No use in hogging the road."

When Gordon left his tiny seaport town of Southport, N. C. for college back in 1922, A & T was just "three buildings and a barn."

"In those days," he said, "each county gave one scholarship of $3.00 per month to a youngster going to college, and I got the one in my county. The fees then were something like $20.00 a month."

Although not officially appointed postman until 1929, Gordon said he "started fooling around with the mail" as early as 1923, under the late President James B. Dudley.

"I remember one time I lost a special delivery letter and had to pay for it. That taught me a lesson I shall never forget."

Gordon specialized in business courses at A & T, picking up his degree in 1929 after sandwiching in stints as a newsboy and secretary in the college's Mechanical Arts Department.

Even though he was an excellent student in typing and shorthand, Gordon said that after he started handling mail, he never really considered taking any other kind of job.

"In that kind of job, you are always meeting people," said Gordon, "and you have to be friendly. You just can't get angry, and you just can't expect to do an eight-hour job and go home."

And that seemed to be his personal code of ethics. His was always a ready smile; and long after the office had closed, he would hang around to deliver a telegram or special which meant so much to a student on a shoestring budget.

Gordon was also a whizz at remembering names.

"The only time I nearly got thrown was the year I had the five William Smiths, two of them in the same town and all of them in the same general area."

The only thing that saved me was learning the addresses from where they received mail. They were nice if I made a mistake."

Five different presidents headed A & T during Gordon's working years. The present administrator, Dr. Lewis C. Dowdy, recalls the "wise counsel" given him over the years by Gordon.

Gordon is married to the former Avvie Morrow of Winston-Salem. Mrs. Gordon teaches elementary school and their 21-year old daughter, Charmion, is a junior at A & T.

Having trudged many a mile in his years at the college, Gordon said he "still doesn't believe in riding much." His daily walk and the fishing will keep him pretty busy.
